PRIDE IN MISSION

Letter from the Head of School

As I reflect on our milestone 2016–17 school year, I can't think of a more fitting theme for the Annual Report than "75 Points of Pride." On every page—from summaries of academic achievements and innovative student opportunities to reports on financial strength and community engagement—it's clear that our school is exceptionally strong and poised to continue to lead the way in education for years to come. In fact, I can think of many, many more ways that we can all be proud of Country Day, its students, faculty and staff, alumni, parents, and supporters. And I know everyone in our community has their own individual reason to be proud of their connection to Country Day.

A steadfast and intentional commitment to our mission and key values is the reason we have so much to celebrate as a school community. Over the course of 75 years, our purpose has always been to develop the full potential of every student. All Country Day graduates carry with them not just the intellectual curiosity that was instilled in them by their talented teachers, but also the values of principled character, ethical leadership, and a responsibility to serve. A Country Day education is the foundation for our students to become leaders capable of bettering themselves, our community, our country, and our world.

The strength of our past makes us well-positioned as we focus on our future. In June, we began the first phase of construction on a multiyear plan to create even more distinctive learning environments for our students. Moving forward on this strategic priority gives us the academic and community spaces needed to build on our already strong academic programming. The new and renovated facilities underway are a significant commitment in ensuring Country Day remains at the forefront in delivering an exceptional education for our students, both now and in the future.

I am grateful and proud to be a part of a community that embraces our collective commitment to our students and our school. Our strong legacy of philanthropy has enabled Country Day to reach the 75-year mark as a leader in independent school education. Thank you to everyone who supports Country Day. Without you, our donors and volunteers, we couldn't provide our students with the distinctive educational experiences that make them Country Day Ready for life.

Sincerely,

Mark Reed
Head of School

PRIDE IN LEGACY

Letter from the Board of Trustees Chair

The more things change, the more they stay the same. I am awed by the changes our school has seen since my preschool days in 1969. As a student, I enjoyed a new learning center and theater, and I gained friends when we expanded to a second campus. My children have since benefited from larger and better athletics and fine arts facilities, new buildings at the Middle School, iPads and Surfaces, and a host of other changes. And, here we go again. The multiyear construction project now afoot will transform Country Day for generations to come.

Yet, amidst these changes, Country Day has sought to stay the same. For over 75 years, Country Day's single-minded focus has been to help families raise children who become capable, independent, responsible, and kind adults. A changing world has demanded transformation in our campuses, our program, and our faculty.

At every turn, Country Day has evolved to ensure students emerge ready for the next step, and we have backed that dedication with the philanthropy and stewardship necessary to deliver on our promise.

The results speak for themselves. Country Day students consistently excel. The Class of 2017 included a Morehead-Cain Scholar, 12 college athletes, and a record $11.4 million in scholarship offers, including 46 students who each earned more than $100,000 in combined offers. Across all grade levels and by many measures, Country Day ranks near the top of the pack when compared to peer schools. Families in our area know that: Enrollment last year reached 1,656 students, and reenrollment was 95 percent.

Country Day excellence is rooted in generosity. In the year just ended, gifts to the Country Day Fund totaled more than $2.25 million, our endowment reached $57.5 million, and capital gifts toward strategic priorities topped $31.2 million, all record-setting figures and a testament to the value we place on investing in our children's education. To all of those who have made Country Day a philanthropic priority, you have our gratitude.

This time of transformation is exciting for the Country Day community. On behalf of the entire Board of Trustees, thank you for your faith in us and your support for this great institution.

Sincerely,

#16 75 Days for Country Day

Last fall, we set a goal to generate 750 gifts for the Country Day Fund in 75 days. The Country Day Fund is the school's first giving priority because the gifts enhance our programs and campus facilities, helping prepare our students for life. The generosity of parents, teachers, alumni, grandparents, and friends allowed us to exceed our goal, collecting more than 1,000 gifts in 75 days.

Best of all, students, faculty, and staff helped us count down to the December 31 deadline with creative videos that we shared on social media.

Thank you to everyone who supports the Country Day Fund.

Making an Impact at Country Day Means Making an Impact in Charlotte

Since 2006, the Diversity Guest Author Series, which brings writers like Kekla Magoon to our Middle School, has also reached more than 2,000 CMS middle and high school students who are invited to an assembly on Cannon Campus.

PRIDE IN ACADEMICS

#26

Robust Academic Programming Creates Exceptional Results

Lower School special area classes are special

At Country Day, special area classes are essential components of a rich academic experience. Philanthropic support allows Country Day teachers to create robust educational programming in these specific areas:

- Daily PE: Children need to run, play, and MOVE in order to do their best learning, and our PE program does just that...every single day!
- Fine Arts: Students get the chance to take risks, tap into their creativity, and explore a wide range of artistic pursuits: singing, dancing, playing instruments, weaving, sculpting, drawing, painting, acting, and so much more!
- Science: The science program taps into student curiosity in hands-on, engaging ways, such as designing 3-D models, corresponding with astronauts in space, building robots, and making paper from scratch.

- Languages: Research shows that language learning makes children more culturally competent, more empathetic, and stronger math students.
- Computer/Design & Engineering: Coding is increasingly seen as a fourth literacy, and Country Day is ahead of the curve. From coding and design/engineering to media literacy and digital citizenship, our technology team is equipping our children with the skills and mindsets to thrive in their digital worlds.

- Library: No educational experience is complete without piles and piles of well-loved books, and our librarians make it their mission to give children rich, joyful reading lives.

29 Alex Kim '13, a Park Scholar at NC State, graduated as valedictorian. In a thank you letter to Country Day teachers, he wrote: “One thing I’ve grown to appreciate more and more throughout my time in college was how well-prepared I was to tackle the challenges ahead because of the rigorous education, drive to persevere, and critical-thinking skills that you all instilled in me.”

30 The Upper School Chamber Choir earned the highest rating of “Superior” at the North Carolina Music Educators High School Choral Large Ensemble Music Performance Adjudication.

31 Four Upper School students advanced to compete in the National Semifinal Round of the Euro Challenge competition at the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City.

32 29 Middle and Upper School students were named National Latin Exam Award Winners.

33 94% of seniors in the International Baccalaureate program earned the diploma.

34 Junior kindergarten and kindergarten teachers introduced the AMAZE social/emotional curriculum, which provides students with the opportunity to see “mirrors” of their own reality, along with “windows” into the experiences of others.

35 Among 176 AP students, who took a total of 518 exams, 98 earned AP Scholar Awards for their excellence in scores.

Daniel '07. She shared these two memorable moments from the 2016–17 school year.

"On a professional level, the best part of my year involved the growth of one of my students who was new to Country Day. She entered the year uncertain of what to expect, unsure of how to carve her niche, and uncomfortable with Well, actually, sharing with her that she was THE bright spot of my year may have been even better...her pride matched mine!

"Personally, watching Maggie deliver a motivational speech to Upper School students, teachers, and many parents at the Athletic Awards Assembly filled my heart with pride. During Maggie's time as a 'lifer' at Country Day, we all attended innumerable plays, sporting events, and other performances as we 'cheered her on.' None filled me with more pride, however, than seeing this young woman, my grown-up child, deliver the words of encouragement to this next generation, inspiring them to be their best selves as she cited those influential in her own time at Country Day."

During the 2016–17 school year, Country Day student-athletes earned state titles in six sports.

PRIDE IN LEADERSHIP

#46 Expanding Real-World Leadership Experiences for Seniors

Students gain an insider's view of a career field

At Country Day, we take pride in providing our students with enriching, leadership experiences that expand their education beyond our classroom walls through experiential learning and community collaboration. This past May, our new Externship Program matched 131 seniors with 53 Charlotte-area employers and organizations in 17 different industries for an insider's view of a career field. The one-day job shadowing and mentoring experience allowed our students to explore a career field, gain an understanding of what a job entails, learn about a typical "day in the life of," and make meaningful connections.

Assistant Dean of Students Steve Wall, who created and manages the Senior Externship program, said, "I was overwhelmed with the generosity of our Country Day community. We had 236 opportunities available, so I was able to match every student with an experience that corresponded with their passions and interest."

On Instagram,
Generation Nation, posted:

"We enjoyed hosting @charlottecountrydayschool senior Victoria for her externship! Victoria will study international relations and political science at American—and intends to be Secretary of State one day!"

Leadership Brings Light to Charlotte's Sister City in Peru

During a service learning experience in Arequipa, Peru, 15 students installed 24 solar panels at a school and led workshops to teach parents how they could install solar panels to help light their homes. The panels installed on the roof of the school are now providing electricity for a computer lab and classrooms.

As a teacher here for more than 20 years, I regard Country Day as a special place. Because of the high bar in professional development, the school has provided me with opportunities, such as traveling the world, that very few, if any, other teaching positions offer. I consider myself very lucky to be part of such an extraordinary community of parents, students, and educators.

—AARON COOPER, Eighth-grade social studies teacher

#48

49 The Office of International Studies hosted a community-wide forum focusing on refugees in Charlotte, including panelists from three Charlotte-based nonprofits.

50 The Parents' Association, Boosters Club, College Counseling Office, and other departments sponsored nearly 50 different Parent Education programs.

51 Faculty attended or presented at nearly 60 different workshops and conferences to develop their professional skills and best practices.

52 Early philanthropic leadership toward the school's strategic capital priorities enabled us to break ground on the Purdy Center for Science and Mathematics and the Hance Lower School Learning Center on Cannon Campus.

53 Head of School Mark Reed is an engaged civic leader, serving on the Board of Trustees for the following organizations: Teachers Fellowship Institute (TFI), Southern Association of Independent Schools (SAIS), Foundation for the Carolinas, The Good Fellows Club, and Carolinas HealthCare System.

54 Parent education blogs by faculty and staff experts made over 100,000 impressions beyond our own Country Day community.

55 Lower School Green Team members led an energy kit drive through Duke Energy. For their efforts they earned a $250 prize, which they donated to the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Animal Care and Control Center.

Financial Aid covers more than tuition?

When donors contribute toward financial aid to allow exceptional students to benefit from a Country Day education, they generously provide additional resources beyond the gift of tuition. Support of a full Country Day experience may include textbooks, international experiences, transportation, Extended Day, athletic activities, and more. Thanks to the generosity of many, Country Day continues to strengthen a diverse learning environment that benefits all of our students.

A Remarkable Experience

In our pursuit of continuous improvement, each year the Admissions Office surveys all families who applied for admittance—whether they ultimately joined the Country Day family or not. Here are two of many comments that highlight the warm and welcoming feeling that prospective families experience at Country Day.

“Our son made the decision to attend CCDS. It was his favorite by far. He felt the teachers were the most passionate, as experienced by the classes he sat in on, and also felt the students and school community as a whole were the most welcoming.”

“Most important to our family was an environment that is all about loving to learn and curiosity about the world and cultures. I could tell the education was thoughtful and challenging and the community was open and diverse.”

...And that confidence in Country Day as the right choice continues long after the admissions process is over, as we often hear on social media:

“I love that Country Day has given my daughter an amazing education and educators who love what they do. It’s the best combination of rigor and love, and I wouldn’t want her to be anywhere else.” –ERICA TILLERY, parent of a fourth grader

“So grateful for Country Day and all it did for my children. Go Bucs! #countrydayready” –SHANNON MCFAYDEN, parent of two graduates, former Board Chair

PRIDE IN FINANCIAL STABILITY

I feel a lot of pride for Country Day and where we are today. One of the things I'm most proud about is that Country Day's endowment is approximately $58 million.

I've continued my involvement with Country Day and my support of endowment giving partly because of my parents' long-term interest in scholarships for financial aid. I've seen the success and leadership of Country Day going back decades, and I've always wanted to be a part of that.

#59

—RODNEY PITTS '64, former Board of Trustees member, parent of alumni, Board of Visitors member

A proven track record of sound financial management by the Board of Trustees and a legacy of philanthropy have helped provide generations of Country Day graduates with an exceptional education. That foundational strength positions Country Day well for meeting its strategic priorities for many years to come.

2016/17 Summary Of Giving

Given that tuition only covers 82% of Country Day’s operating budget, philanthropy plays a critical role in allowing our school to deliver its mission. The Country Day Fund is our top fundraising priority, while endowment, capital, and restricted funds support top institutional goals as well. In addition, we’re grateful for the supplemental financial support from parent support groups as they work to strengthen the school community.

Recognizing Our Culture of Philanthropy

#61 During our school's 75th anniversary, we introduced two new giving societies to celebrate the exceptional culture of philanthropy shaped by so many over time. The 1941 Society honors lifetime giving to our school and the Country Day Loyal Society recognizes those who have given consecutively for at least five years. These two special giving groups join the established Oak Society, which honors those who have made Country Day a part of their estate plans.

Each of us has an important role to play, just as generations have before us, in not only sustaining Country Day, but also perpetuating its reputation as a national leader in education. It's the people behind each gift and the story that inspired it that shape the rich texture of our philanthropic culture. Thank you for your steadfast and generous support of our students and faculty, and know that the spirit behind your gift is as precious and lasting as the gift itself.

I have three children who are lifers, so we had 39 good years at Country Day. I never saw my children leave the house not wanting to get to school. And when you have that kind of experience, you're going to love the place. I am most grateful for my children's education and for the wonderful time they had here.

In spring 2017, the school announced another step toward meeting Country Day's key strategic priorities. Jim and Bev Hance pledged $2 million to create new opportunities for our next generation of leaders, thinkers, and doers in a distinctive learning environment. This significant gift from the Hances helps bring to life the collective vision shaped by our strategic plan and moves Country Day's mission forward for our students. We are delighted to recognize the couple's deep commitment to Country Day by naming the future Hance Lower School Learning Center.

Through a strategic planning process, our community determined that a significant investment must be made to support math and science, dining, and learning centers on Cannon Campus in order to advance our students' success, while also continuing to secure our financial future through increased support of the endowment and the Country Day Fund.

The Hance Lower School Learning Center, with an anticipated completion of August 2018, is the first step in creating separate, age-appropriate libraries/learning centers for younger and older students. The Hance Lower School Learning Center will also be home to the Lower School Educational Resource Program, a hub for dedicated technology instruction, as well as before- and after-school enrichment. Facility highlights include an open and airy library/media center that integrates an extensive collection of books with resources designed for modern information literacy. There will be storytelling and instruction rooms, a hands-on makers space/innovation area that engages students in age-appropriate problem solving, collaboration, and design thinking, multiple modern classrooms, and a kitchen.

The Hances, who are parents to four alumnae and grandparents to six Country

Day students, have made Country Day a philanthropic priority alongside other key educational institutions. Their generosity and steadfast commitment illustrate the value parents of alumni and grandparents place on a Country Day education.

Building For Our Future

The first phase of a multiyear construction plan began in early June when we broke ground for the Purdy Center for Science and Mathematics and the Hance Lower School Learning Center. Learn more and see real-time construction progress at charlottecountryday.org/building.

Margaret and Smoky Bissell Invest in the People of Country Day

Endowment Giving

#64

An extended standing ovation greeted Margaret and Smoky Bissell at the February Faculty and Staff meeting when Head of School Mark Reed announced that the couple had made an extraordinary $4.2 million gift to support Country Day's key strategic priorities and further our mission. This exceptional gift, which will be directed toward the Margaret E. Gragg Endowment for Faculty Professional Development and the Bissell Faculty Salary Endowment funds, ensures Country Day is able to attract and retain a diverse and passionate faculty and staff and that our greatest assets—our teachers—are provided ample opportunities for professional growth.

In her long tenure with Country Day, 17 of which she served as Head of School, Margaret championed investment in people in order to ensure we remain a leader in attracting and retaining the very best faculty and staff members for our students. As a former teacher himself and also former chair of the Board of Trustees, parent of alumni, and now grandparent, Smoky understands well the value of supporting educators who are passionate about developing the potential of every student.

The Bissells are moving Country Day's mission forward by also ensuring that an increasingly diverse and passionate faculty and staff:

- create meaningful learning experiences for each student,
- are fully provided opportunities and resources for professional development, and
- receive a competitive compensation package.

Scott Waybright, assistant head of school, oversees curriculum and professional development for the school. providing Country Day with the financial flexibility to develop future generations of academic leaders at Country Day.”

The Bissell's generous investment in the people that make Country Day so special further augments the cornerstone elements of an integrated plan to update Cannon Campus and position Country Day for the future. This support ensures that the previously announced gifts to construct a Dowd Student Center, Purdy Center for Science and Mathematics, and Hance Lower School Learning Center will realize their full potential for our students—because of the extraordinary educators who are preparing them for the future. This gift also propels Country Day into an elite group of independent schools nationwide, whose endowments are above the $50 million mark.

Tommy and Millie Cox

Giving from the Heart

Planned Giving

#65

People support their charitable interests for many practical reasons; oftentimes to meet a specific need or to fulfill a certain goal. Then, there are the reasons people give beyond the practical. As French mathematician and philosopher Blaise Pascal wrote, “The heart has its reasons which reason knows not.”

For Millie '66 and Tommy Cox, their reasons for supporting Country Day are a combination of both practical and heartfelt—with an emphasis on the heartfelt.

“In many ways, Country Day helped shape me into the person I am today,” shared Millie. “The school is dear to me.”

“We give to places we value,” added Tommy. “We value what Country Day has meant to our family.”

The Coxes have a long-term relationship with Country Day: Millie is an alumna and was the director of the International Studies program for two decades; Tommy's mother was beloved math teacher Nancy Cox; and they are the parents of Liza '94, Miles '96, and Dalton '99.

Though Millie has many memories of her time as a student, her most poignant is from her first-grade year. Having contracted polio at age five, Millie arrived at Country Day in a wheelchair.

“I was doing a lot of complaining because my desk was not like the other students,” Millie said. “My teacher, Marilyn Mills, who was also in a wheelchair, told me the staff had built a special desk to accommodate my wheelchair and I hadn't even said thank you. That taught me how important it is to show gratitude to those around you who are helping you shine and succeed. It's a lesson I've never forgotten.”

As parents, Millie and Tommy value how caring and influential Country Day teachers and coaches were for their own children. “Miles's experience on the wrestling team gave him skills he uses today in the business world,” said Tommy. “He had a great coach, Rick Stack, who taught him valuable life lessons.”

Giving in All Kinds of Ways

Making a difference in their community and around the world is something the couple has been committed to throughout their 47-year marriage. “We believe in giving in all kinds of ways,” Tommy said. Tommy served on both the Charlotte City Council and the Mecklenburg County Commission and coached community baseball; Millie currently chairs Country Day's Board of Visitors and served as a former board chair of the World Affairs Council. They are counselors at Camp Blue Skies, a camp for adults with developmental disabilities; and are active in their church, Myers Park Presbyterian, where they support a girls' school in the

The couple has ensured their continued support of the scholarship by including Country Day in their estate plans: Millie with a gift in her will and Tommy with a gift of a life insurance policy. Their heartfelt legacy will provide educational opportunities for future Country Day students.

The Oak Society recognizes those who include the school in their wills or estate plans. Their gifts help ensure the future strength of our school and enable them to strengthen Country Day beyond their lifetimes. We deeply appreciate their foresight and extraordinary generosity.

Democratic Republic of the Congo. They share a passion for bluegrass music and are in a band, Sugar Creek.

Millie cherishes the memories from her years as Country Day's director of International Studies, calling it the "highlight" of her work life. The Coxes contribute annually to the Mildred Dalton Cox Endowment for International Studies. This fund was established by Millie's parents in her honor in 1997 and provides opportunities for Country Day students to study abroad.

The Coxes recognize the impact the International Studies program can have on the entire school community, opening the campus to the world and Country Day's students to other cultures. "I spent a year studying abroad," Millie said. "The experience impacted the rest of my life—it made me a deeper thinker and gave me a clearer perspective of what it means to be a world citizen."

It has been especially meaningful to them when others have contributed to the fund over the years in Millie's honor.

The couple has ensured their continued support of the scholarship by including Country Day in their estate plans as well: Millie with a gift in her will and Tommy with a gift of a life insurance policy. Their heartfelt legacy will provide educational opportunities for future Country Day students.

"Country Day is a top-notch school, with excellent, caring teachers, a diverse community, and a relevant curriculum," Millie said. "We hope it will always be open to the world."

THE COUNTRY DAY FUND

New Name, Same Impact

For over 75 years, the Country Day community has been dedicated to providing our students with an education that goes beyond exceptional academics to help them reach their highest potential. The Country Day Fund (formerly the Annual Fund) plays a vital role in our ability to ensure this experience for every student on campus.

Renaming the Annual Fund to the "Country Day Fund" allows us to focus more on the impact these critical, operating dollars have on the core of our mission: students and faculty.

We also plan to host more of an active dialogue with donors regarding what part of the Country Day experience they value most, while more intentionally reporting back to them on the difference their generosity is making.

No matter the name, we are grateful to everyone who supports our top philanthropic priority!

The Selwyn Society

Country Day established the Selwyn Society to recognize and honor supporters who make gifts of $1,500 or more to the Country Day Fund. The loyal support of this generous group of leaders is critical to giving Country Day students distinctive academic experiences. Head of School Mark Reed acknowledges members of the Selwyn Society every fall at a special reception.

2016/17 COUNTRY DAY FUND

The Young Alumni Selwyn Society

The Young Alumni Selwyn Society (YASS) recognizes young alumni who graduated within the last 15 years and display their leadership by making significant gifts to the Country Day Fund. In 2016–17, alumni in the classes of 2007–2012 who made a gift of $250 or more, along with alumni in the classes of 2002–2006 who made a gift of $500 or more, were eligible for YASS membership. Our most recent graduates in the classes of 2013–2016 who participated in the Country Day Fund were also included in YASS.

Young Alumni Selwyn Society members Matt McAulay '01 and his wife, Blythe, and Lauren Adams Threlkeld '04 and her husband, Michael.

“Country Day is where I grew up. I would be a different person without Charlotte Country Day School and the community that surrounds it. Above anything else, this school has provided me with the lessons, values, education, life skills, role models, and friendships necessary to use and rely on out in the real world of college, jobs, and even family. I am proud of who I have become because of the value and dignity I was treated with at Country Day.”

#69 “Being a Country Day alumna and teacher reminds me of the importance of connection and mentorship. I am thankful to be at a school where I laugh with my students daily and where I am humbled by the generosity of my colleagues—especially those who taught me as a teenager and I am privileged to be learning from again now.”

#73 Honoring Longtime Retiring Faculty and Staff

These faculty and staff members retired in June 2017 after serving 20 years or more with Country Day.

Libby Helms / 33 years / Lower School

As a lead fourth-grade teacher and the epitome of Southern hospitality, Libby instilled in her students the values of honor, respect, and courtesy. Outside the classroom, Libby served in many leadership roles, including grade coordinator, Annual Fund division chair, and Diversity Committee. She won the Faculty Exceptional Performance Award twice, and represented Country Day on international teacher exchange trips to Russia and China. In 2014, Libby was inducted into the Honorary Alumni Association.

Linda Wolf / 30 years / Middle School

Linda was a caring, calm, fair, and good-humored language arts/social studies teacher and had tremendous influence in developing literacy across the curriculum. She held many additional roles at the Middle School over the years, including advisor to the 5/6 Student Council and the Chronicle, department chair, and trip leader for the England Sister School Exchange. She also received the Hunter Summer Sabbatical Grant. Linda won the Faculty Exceptional Performance Award twice and won the Florence Radcliffe Clauss Chapman Faculty Appreciation Award.

Brian Kridler / 28 years / Upper School

As a history teacher, Brian embraced school life, supporting his students inside and outside the classroom by regularly attending school functions from sports to fine arts to academic competitions. He received a Faculty Renewal Grant to South America and a World View Study Trip to Costa Rica.

Kathy McRorie / 24 years / Middle School

Kathy brought her upbeat, can-do attitude to the position of administrative assistant to six different Middle School heads. Her peers showed their appreciation for Kathy by awarding her the Staff Exceptional Performance Award twice.

Debbie Rumble / 24 years / Middle School

In addition to teaching Spanish and French at various grade levels over the years, Debbie served as advisor to the Ambassador Club, a trip leader on the Canada Sister School Exchange, and was awarded a Faculty Renewal Grant.

“Congrats Libby Helms and Brian Kridler on your service and retirements! I have fond memories of you both (4th and 11th grades respectively), and so appreciate your talents.”

—KRISTIN JOHNSTON BELL '93

Carol Westbrook / 22 years / Lower School

Carol began her career as a kindergarten assistant teacher, a position she held until 2001. She returned to Country Day in 2009 to work with our Extended Day program.

Mitzi Deal / 20 years / Lower School

As a lead junior kindergarten teacher, Mitzi used her strong music education background to integrate more music into the JK curriculum. She also served as grade coordinator for six years, led a process to rewrite the junior kindergarten math curriculum, and was awarded a Faculty Renewal Grant.

We also thank these retirees for their commitment and wish them well in their next venture.

Daisy Goggins, 16 years, Business Office, Accounts Payable

Margaret Hemric, 16 years, Educational Resource Program director

Linda Lyles, 16 years, Lower School assistant teacher

Charlotte Cornick, 14 years, Upper School Director of Educational Resources

Tom Holder, 11 years, Upper School science teacher

Joyce Murphy, 10 years, Upper School administrative assistant

Meet Our New Trustees

Welcome to these trustees, joining the Board for the 2017–18 school year

George S. Dewey IV '90 is the CEO and president of Aston Properties. The company was founded in 1980 by George's father, G. Steele Dewey III. Aston's focus is southeastern retail real estate—development, brokerage, property management, and investment. He joined Aston in 1997 after working at The Bissell Companies. George, who graduated with a bachelor's degree in economics and Spanish from Hampden-Sydney College, serves on the Boards of Trustees of the John M. Belk Endowment and Hampden-Sydney College. He also serves on the Levine Children's Hospital Board of Ambassadors and the Board of Directors for the Trail of History. A member of the Property & Grounds Committee, George has served as an Annual Fund volunteer over the years and was the Selwyn Society Division Chair in 2007–08. George and his wife, Meg, have a daughter in 11th grade at Charlotte Christian and a son in 9th grade at Country Day.

Amanda (Mandy) Shelton Houser is co-president of Shelton Vineyards in Dobson, North Carolina. The Yadkin Valley company was founded in 1999 by Mandy's father, Charlie Shelton, and his brother, Ed. As co-president, Mandy's involvement in all aspects of Shelton Vineyards began with its inception. She also creates many of the design ideas for the company and its surrounding entities. Mandy is a graduate of Meredith College with a degree in interior design and also has her own design firm. Mandy serves on the Advancement Committee and was a brand ambassador for the Country Day refreshed branding effort. She and her husband, Todd, have two daughters. Anna '17 attends the University of Georgia, and Shelton is in 10th grade at Country Day.

Andrew Tate, CFA, is vice president of wealth management with The O'Brien Tate Group and has been at UBS since 2014. Previously, Andrew was a fixed income strategist, member of the investment committee, and leader of the institutional and retail distribution teams with Sterling Capital Management LLC. Prior to joining Sterling in 2007, he was in the debt capital markets group at Bank of America. He is a graduate of Washington & Lee University. Andrew led the Country Day relationship while at Sterling. He continues to lend his financial expertise to the Investment Committee, which he joined in 2015. Andrew's wife, Carson, serves on the Lower School Board for the Parents' Association. Their daughter, E.C., is in first grade.

Interdisciplinary Projects Strengthen Understanding: Because mosaics are one of the great legacies of the Ancient Roman world, Middle School Latin students researched lesser known myths from Ovid's Metamorphoses and art students captured these myths in stone. A mosaic was also created to honor the school's anniversary, complete with the Roman numerals (LXXV) for 75 years.

Country Day is more likely to graduate tomorrow's leaders than most schools are. That's a hefty responsibility, and I think we have the right values and we're on course to understand what that means. I hope Country Day, 75 years from now, is one of those great institutions that is more than just a school. It's really a citizen in its own right.

—TODD GORELICK '82, Chair of the Board of Trustees
